Some of these experiment have succeeded, it was reported, but others have failed.

The nature of the gases is classified information, but they are believed to be mixtures that include tear gas, the universal riot control weapon. One gas sea and vomiting, another loosens the bowels.

Helicopters and fighter bombers reportedly have been equipped to dispense the gases over battlefields.

One objective of this gas warfare is to immobilize the enemy quickly to permit the rescue of prisoners held by the Viet Cong. Another use for gas, military sources said, is neutralization of

Taxing Our Forests

Nearly 90 per cent of the Upper Peninsula is forest so the public policy on forest taxation is important to the progress of the area.

Nearly 40 per cent of the land area of the U.P. is owned by the state and federal governments and is forest land. The rest is owned by large industrial corporations and by small owners in roughly equal propor-

The pressures for more money for government have boosted property taxes in Michigan and have affected the forests. Michigan has a 15 mill limit on property taxes. They can be raised above that limit only by vote of the people. But the valuation of property for taxes has increased substantially in recent years.

This rise in valuations is not a pure result of the need for more taxes, it also reflects a true increase in value on many properties and an earlier undervaluation on some properties.

There are several ways in which taxes on forest lands are paid:

1. The state pays a fixed fee on its lands.

2. The federal government through the Forest Service pays 25 per cent of the yield of the forest to the local governments in which it is located.

3. Private and corporate owners pay a property tax, or, if they place their lands under the Commercial Forest Reserve Act, they pay a low annual tax, plus a percentage of the value of the timber cut when it is cut

The uncertainties of income under the Forest Service plan and the Commercial Forest Reserve Act need remedy if local governments and school districts are to operate in an orderly manner. And Forum on Resources of Upper Michigan suggests that there should also be a public accounting of the responsibility of the state and federal governments for support of local government where they hold large forest areas in the name One Man, One Vote of the public.

At present the long term outlook for private ownership of timberland is uncertain because taxation may The widely voiced notion that census was 300 times greater in make it unprofitable to hold timber to maturity. #### Start Nutrition Habits Early Says Specialist

EAST LANSING - The best way to provide for your later years nutritionally is to start while you're young.

But if you've already reached those later years and your nutrition hasn't been what it could be, Dr. Portia Morrisreminds you that your body has tremendous capacity to repair itself, even if it has been deprived for a period.

Dr. Morris, foods and nutrition specialist with the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, offers these suggestions for older persons who want to maintain a good diet:

1. Eat a wide variety of foods. Nutrition requirements for those past middle age do not differ markedly from those In younger years. And for the person in normal health, a good, mixed diet will provide the nutrients he needs without making it necessary for him to buy expensive mineral and vitamin supplements.
